Plenary session

Thursday, 7th July

Key speech “Leap and a net will appear” & Ice breaking activities

Chris Williams, International School Partnerships Specialist; British Council Schools Ambassador; Global Learning Association

Which came or comes first – the great idea, the product or the market? Whatever your answer, you will probably say that there is a link between process and practice. Successful outcomes almost invariably come through the formation of strong partnerships. What would Chopin have achieved without a piano-maker, Louis Pasteur without glass-blowers, Shakespeare without actors or an audience? Nothing is guaranteed. In this plenary session, punctuated with plenty of icebreakers, both social and based in the conference focal area of Entrepreneurship, Chris will focus on the elements which make a good partnership.

Chris Williams. Formerly a History teacher and then senior leader in large 11-18 secondary schools for 34 years, Chris has been freelance since 2007. In 2017 he became Chairman of Governors at a large Lincoln primary school where 65% of the 400+ children do not speak English at home. Most are from ‘eastern’ Europe. Professional commitments include regular icebreaker sessions at eTwinning contact seminars or national events, most recently in Poland and previously in Georgia and Ukraine, and supporting Erasmus+ applications e.g. sessions in the UK and Guadeloupe in the current school year. He has hosted over 50 Arion, Comenius and KA1 groups in Lincoln, often split with sessions and visits in London. Groups have included educational professionals from Denmark, France (Montpellier), Germany, Italy, Latvia, Poland (Elblag), Spain, Sweden and Turkey. In any spare time Chris enjoys live theatre, watching rugby union and planting trees.

Let’s crowdfund! Shall we?

Agnieszka Płoska, Poland

It is much easier to realize your project once you are supported by a crowd: it stimulates, motivates to work, gives you constant feedback and supports the steps you take. The time is now – instead of an individual deciding on a success of your educational innovative idea, ask a crowd, motivate them to support you financially and make your dreams come true. It is time to engage hundreds of people around you. They are there, you just need to reach them. The financial revolution for your educational projects is here. Learn the steps to do a successful campaign. Let’s crowdfund, shall we?

Agnieszka Płoska. *Crowdfunding campaign’s mentor, believer, optimist. She’s been interested in alternative financing since 2009, and in 2014 she discovered her path – managing crowdfunding campaigns. She follows “A goal is a dream with a deadline.”(Napoleon Hill) motto which motivates her to get projects done. This her pure passion since daily you can find her in an international company, where she manages German and French speaking individuals. She loves to teach and share her knowledge during workshops. ### Learning entrepreneurship by shaping competences

Paweł Płoski, Poland

Is it possible to plan your career today? What qualities, abilities and skills are worth developing in order to share this with students? In fact - our competences have not changed for more than thirty years, as indicated by specific reports. As part of the workshop, various solutions will be proposed that allow you to quickly solve various jigsaws in a variety of lessons. Developing competences is like a mysterious box, the content of which we adjust together with the participants of the meeting – it will be conducted with an approach of educational projects in the Entrepreneurship Gdańsk Incubator.

Paweł Płoski - supervisor of educational projects at the Gdańsk Entrepreneurship Foundation, project specialist and coordinator. Psychologist, trainer and consultant in the field of new technologies. He is interested in digital education, ergonomics and new educational solutions. He worked remotely as a recruiter for one of the most important industries in the Gulf Cooperation Region (Middle East and Africa). He works with young people and adults on a daily basis, helping them develop entrepreneurial skills.
